

SAVE THE DATE

The 2022 North American Society for Pediatric Exercise Medicine (NASPEM) Meeting

August 3 - 6, 2022
Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada

The University of Saskatchewan (USask) College of Kinesiology and the USask Health Sciences are proud to host the 2022 North American Society for Pediatric Exercise Medicine (NASPEM) Meeting.

Join us in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, for this four-day event taking place between Aug. 3 and 6, 2022.

CONFIRMED KEYNOTE SPEAKERS INCLUDE:

Professor Neil Armstrong (PhD)
University of Exeter, United Kingdom

Professor John Cairney (PhD)
The University of Queensland, Australia

Dr. Dan Cooper (MD)
University of California, Irvine, United States

Professor Bareket Falk (PhD)
Brock University, Canada

Dr. Lori Tucker (MD)
The University of British Columbia, Canada

Additional speakers to be announced once confirmed.*

With so much to offer, Saskatoon is one of Canada's most talked-about destinations. The door is always open for discovery. Experience local eateries, bustling nightlife, river trails and other outdoor spaces as well as cultural institutions and museums.

Located in Saskatoon, the University of Saskatchewan (USask) is one of the top research-intensive, medical doctoral universities in Canada. USask has been breaking new ground in research since 1907, leading innovation in areas of global importance such as infectious diseases and medical technology, agriculture, water and food security through collaborative, creative, interdisciplinary approaches.

At the University of Saskatchewan, we acknowledge we are on Treaty 6 Territory and the Homeland of the Métis. We pay our respect to the First Nations and Métis ancestors of this place and reaffirm our relationship with one another.

For more information, visit:

kinesiology.usask.ca/naspem2022

